With HOMES, rest becomes an integral part of a conscious lifestyle, where well-being, material quality and textile culture come together.

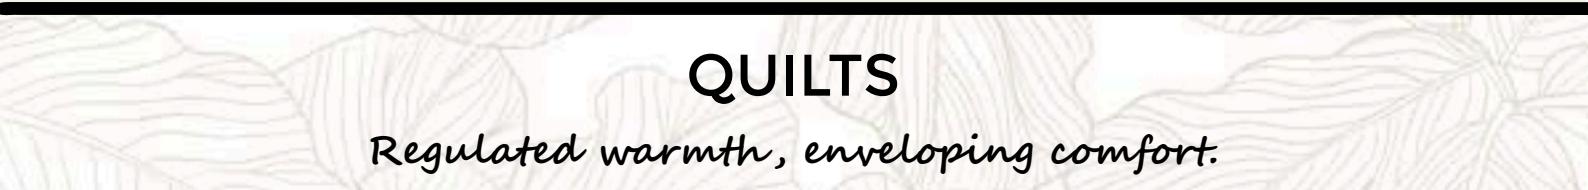

The collection is designed to accompany everyday moments dedicated to rest and living, transforming them into an experience of balance, comfort and lasting beauty.

Each product is the result of careful research into materials and their natural interaction with the body. Selected fibers, advanced solutions and refined craftsmanship work in harmony with body heat, breathability and the need for stable, welcoming comfort, night after night.

Homes

Italian manufacturing tradition and responsible innovation coexist within a collection created to enhance the quality of time devoted to oneself. HOMES interprets rest as a space for authentic regeneration, where technology and natural elements work discreetly, allowing the experience itself to take center stage.

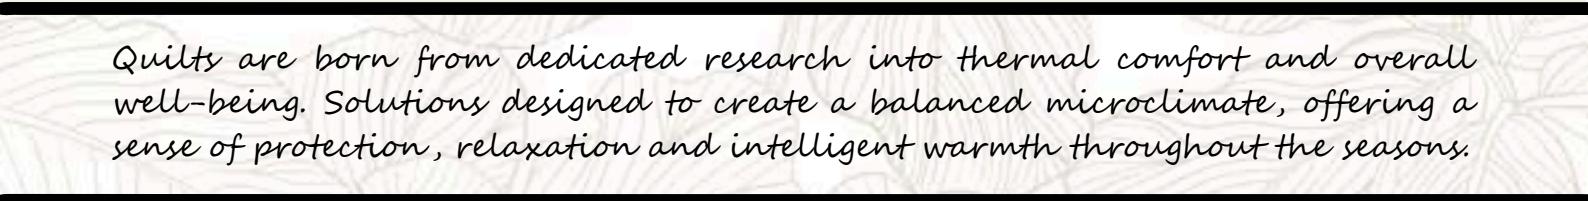

Entirely made in Italy.

BIOCERAMIC QUILTS

Where material innovation meets thermal comfort

Homes

HOMES quilts and blankets made with BioCeramic fibers are the result of extensive research into comfort, balance and overall well-being.

Advanced ceramic particles integrated into the fibers interact naturally with body heat, helping to create a stable and balanced thermal microclimate.

BioCeramic materials are designed to reflect the body's infrared energy, supporting heat retention while contributing to effective thermoregulation. This process helps maintain a pleasant warmth without overheating, offering a sense of continuous comfort and relaxation.

The fibers' intrinsic properties contribute to freshness and hygiene, with natural anti-odor and antibacterial characteristics, while their insulating structure supports breathability and comfort in contact with the body.

The interaction between material and body promotes a feeling of relaxation and muscular ease, enhancing the overall resting experience.

Highly technological yet discreet, BioCeramic quilts and blankets embody a refined approach to comfort, combining innovation, material research and textile expertise to deliver an exclusive and contemporary interpretation of well-being.

Pillow with Oxygen Celliant® Cover and Memory & Lavender Core

This pillow combines an Oxygen Celliant® fabric cover with a memory foam core enriched with lavender, creating a refined balance between advanced textile technology and sensory comfort.

The Oxygen Celliant® fabric is designed to interact with the body's natural energy, supporting a sensation of well-being and comfort during rest, while remaining breathable and pleasant to the touch.

Inside, the memory foam gently adapts to the shape of the head and neck, promoting even support and pressure distribution.

The presence of lavender adds a subtle aromatic note, contributing to a calming and relaxing sleep environment.

Together, materials and technology work in harmony to offer a comfortable, balanced and restorative resting experience.

Pillow with Celliant® Cover and Memory & Lavender Core

This pillow features a Celliant® fabric cover combined with a memory foam and lavender core, designed to enhance everyday sleep comfort through material research and thoughtful construction.

The Celliant® fabric harnesses and recycles the body's natural energy, supporting a sense of comfort and relaxation throughout the night.

The memory foam interior responds gradually to body contours, offering stable and consistent support, while lavender contributes a delicate, soothing presence.

This combination results in a pillow that balances technology, comfort and sensory well-being, ideal for those seeking a natural and harmonious sleep experience.
